Warning: There may be spoilers in the question!

In Chapter 30, Heather gives Steve a Mizpah. (Pictured at right.) She says, “It’s a statement that God is a witness to our commitment to each other, that neither of us will break it because it’s made before him.” (Page 217.)

Do you think it was right for Heather to give Steve the Mizpah?

Read the story of Laban and Jacob. (It starts in Genesis 27.) What is the significance of the Mizpah at the end of the story? Does it seem appropriate for a romantic commitment? Do you still think it was right for Heather to give Steve the Mizpah?
